EDITOR'S TEXT

Hark, ye lovers of lewd lore — our time has come again! It's time to put this organ of excitement into your eager hands once more! We, the bold, daring lovers of life who are our own people come together once again to show our appreciation of nature's most wonderful tool. The tool of sensuality. And what better way to explore this wondrous element that enriches the lives of everyone than to lovingly present to you our third edition of THE DIRTY DOOK! In this issue, we will introduce to you several new changes, concepts and features that we know you'll enjoy. This is not meant to be a radical departure from an editorial policy standpoint, we are simply embarking on new conceptual approaches to broaden the scope of THE DIRTY BOOK. In fact, our original philosophy is still firm — THE DIRTY BOOK will continue to be a tantalizing tongue-in-cheek approach to our favorite subject — SEX. But as the microcomputer industry continues to enjoy a gargantuan erection, we want to help you grow with it. So we will try to convey as much information about our "end" of the business as we possibly can. Of course, while we consider ourselves reknowned "experts" at our trade, we still would like to have as much input from our readers as possible. If you come across delectable tidbits of information — send it to us. We will be offereing various and sundry incentives to you, so dip your pen into the proverbial ink well and start writing. Bare (uh, we mean bear) that in mind for our future issues.

In this issue, THE DIRTY BOOK has set a new pattern to establish the formats that will make a standard for the industry.

Our fixed departments are I/O DEVICES, SUBLIMINALS, EDITOR'S TEXT, LETTERS, PEEKS & POKES, RIM-LICKS, and others.

New departments to be fixed into each publication are: ROBOTIC ADVICE and SEX EDUCATION (or CYBER-SEX).

The TDB brings another first to the world———a computer generated CARTOON series, and what better dedication than to the hapless virginal qualities of MISS PURITY AND HER PERILS protected by her pet robot, Sir Robeaux who has endless resources of I/O devices tucked away in his crotch.

Because our quarterly Contest to develop new "programerotica" has gone over so well, we shall continue to inspire new artists to generate more adult entertainment programs. During the past year, we have honored the following programs: WAHTZEE, SOFTPORN ADVENTURE, STREET LIFE, and SEX MATCH.

Who's next??? Come on, guys and gals, "Let's get your sensual coding sifted from those upstage minds and eliminate Cyberphobia with some enticing Cyberphylia!"

Lo & Behold, we could not let this issue go by without some real good SAC-MAN cartoons by Tony Morazan as a special production.

A revision of our Program Review section has a general analysis of new program descriptions and a capsule review cornered by our sensual silhouetted lady ZYNOBIA and her ratings section.

X-RATED X-CITING X-TATIC X-CELLENT

These ratings are compiled after careful review and screening by our editors who always seem to have a hard time when evaluating the programs.

New Policy: THE DIRTY BOOK has grown from its premiere issue to almost twice the number of pages, but all attempts to make it become a quarterly issue will hold temporarily to a semi-annual release. All persons paying Charter Subscription pricing, will be honored to five issues for the price of three.

With this overview in mind, it's time to "elevate" our consciousness to new heights. Or as the immortal Georgie Porgie put it, "Let the fun begin . . . "

The Dirty Book

THE DIRTY OLD MAN

The Dirty Old Man. He is perhaps the most misunderstood character in American folklore. It's easier for people to associate with F. Scott Fitzgerald's, Gatsby, or Mark Twain's Huckleberry Finn, but the Dirty Old Man? The poor lad has never been given a fair shake. That is, until now. THE DIRTY BOOK now begins its profile of dirty old men. We are doing this not so much as an attempt to glorify them and their mischievous deeds, but rather to shed light on their colorful lives. Maybe you have some choice favorities to add to our ever-growing collection. If you submit something we like and we feel our fellow readers would enjoy, you'll be the grand recipient of a year's free subscription to THE DIRTY BOOK! So whip out that pen, dip it in that ink well, and win yourself a prize! Our first "Dirty Old Man" is the famous (or infamous) Errol Flynn . . . the consummate swashbuckler.

Errol Flynn (1909-1959) graced Hollywood films for over 20 years with his dashing, eloquent portrayals of swashbuckling cavaliers. His first film, Captain Blood, (1936) became an overnight sensation and was followed by such film classics as The Adventures of Robin Hood, Charge of the Light Brigade, Gentleman Jim, The Adventures of Don Juan and many others. Flynn's insatiable appetite for sex (including men), booze and drugs made him as much of an off-screen legend as an on-screen legend. Lithe, athletic and quite handsome, Flynn lived on top of the Hollywood world for over 10 years before his offbeat lifestyle finally caught up with him. His last 10 years in Hollywood did little to enhance his acting career, but did much to promote his reputation as a "Dirty Old Man."

It may have been Flynn's fault that he openly expressed his admiration for nubile young maidens in a day and age where provocations as such tended to magnify and eventually roast figures in the public eye. That he was acquitted twice of statutory rape also lends suspicion to his affinity for ankle socks and budding breasts. When Flynn and David Niven lived together in Hollywood (before their WWII rift . . . longstanding rumors had Flynn as a Nazi spy), they would cruise around Sunset Boulevard high schools making catcalls at high school girls. Flynn, of course, lived in a grandiose manner . . . he had a public address system in his car to facilitate his lusty bellow-making. Even in his waning years he never lost sight of pigtails. Before his death (the coroner kindly attributed it to heart failure . . . it could have been everything; his system simply went kaput) at the age of 50, he was swinging around with a 16-year-old girl.

Of course, the stories could go on and on . . . His rumored affairs with Tyrone Power and Truman Capote, the quenching of his thirst with a quart of vodka a day, his enormous sexual prowess, drugs after drugs after drugs when society knew nothing about drugs, his tempestuous marriage with the lovely Lily Damita and many more tails (or tales, however you like it.)

Errol Flynn . . . swashbuckler. Today he would be just another idol living as carefree a life as his counterparts. But in his time, he was considered a "dirty old man." How unjust.

CONTEST WINNERS MAKE NEW ORLEANS...

THE WINNERS!!, IN NEW ORLEANS!

The Dirty Book

WINNER — FULL OF "LIFE"

One program that The Dirty Book has found to be both challenging and enjoyable (a rare combination in games and mates!) is "Street Life", written by Nelson Wood and published by HARD CORE SOFTWARE. TDB publisher Dan Ellis was able (barely we might add) to tear Wood away from the French Quarter long enough to talk about "Street Life!" and erotic electronica business.

DB: How and when did you get the idea for "Street Life"?

NW: I began work on the first version as a home game on my first computer, a small 8K model, in June of 1980. I finished that around December of that year when I decided I would upgrade my system with my income tax return.

DB: Was that possible on the few bucks you got back?

NW: Who's doing the jokes around here? I guess I started in earnest in March of '81 on the product you play now.

DB: And the idea?

NW: Came, so to say, when I was playing someone else's game and found myself a few hours later asleep at the keyboard. There had to be something more a responsible adult could enjoy.

DB: The jargon used in the game is not typical to say the least. Where did you get it?

NW: In my day to day job as a reporter I do a lot of traveling and for as many words as you find in a dictionary this vast country of ours offers a history rich in slang. I made use of that and included a gas of a glossary for those who have trouble picking up on it.

DB: In writing the review, I was hard pressed as to a category for "Street Life" . . . How would you describe it?

NW: A slice of Americana! If you happen to live on a block that has pimps, prostitutes, venereal disease, sneaky doctors, crap games, pawn shops, good cops, bad cops, and roving gangs of hoods.

DB: A long way from Sesame Street I'd say.

NW: A world away from Mr. Rogers neighborhood that's for sure. But seriously, it is a thinking game. You cannot win on luck alone. The various levels you can stop at keep it a challenge because once you decide to go on and try to last another few nights there is no turning back. There is skill which requires the paddles for driving (ala arcade games) and a casino for those who can roll them bones (dice for those who do not have the glossary handy).

DB: That brings me to my next question. Has marketing been good enough to warrant designing more exotic software items.

NW: I think so. We are on the start of a wave that will get bigger and much better. The erotic software of today is just scratching the surface. My idea in "Street Life" and with other products on the drawing board, is too make people come together for some enjoyable moments. As adults, those joys should know no bounds as long as they do not bring someone else down.

DB: How have sales been on "Street Life"?

NW: Not bad considering that I originally put "Street Life" together just for myself. Getting the word out has not been easy because some hipocrits in the business are attempting to stop an idea by denying access to their magazines. But word of mouth is spreading the game around. And after a few months on the market people are starting to listen. It's like television censors. You hear things on the tube today you thought you would never hear or see . . . but times change. It will with this as well.

DB: Do you have any plans to try your programing hand at another market?

NW: Besides "The King", the arcade game I'm working on, HARD-CORE SOFTWARE will publish a game that is not quite triple xxx for a more general public, yet sophisticated. I am ready to market a business program I designed for aiding assignment editors in the television and radio news media.

DB: Any closing words?

NW: Yes. Take me back to where you tore me from at the beginning of this chat, Dan, and thanks a lot!!! My wife is also enjoying the dining facilities you have introduced us to. Commanders Palace, the Rib Room, breakfast at Brennans, the Lake Restaurant, what's next??

WINNER—MAKES A PARTY FANTASTIC

Formerly known as Love quotient #9, Sex Match excells as an adult party game with all the trimmings to make a very enjoyable social evening. Two new versions are on the way, one toned down, the other tones up. Teen Date for youngsters and Swinging High for the kinky crowd. The Trio that wrote this program did a bang up job.

D B What does the S.O.G. signify?

SOG SOG is an acroym for Joseph SANFRATELLO, Michael ORLANDO, and Rudy GUY, the co-authors of Sex Match.

D B How did it materialize?

SOG Sex Match had a rather innocent beginning as it started out as a simple exercise in programming. As the program evolved it became apparent that individuals were revealing their true sexuality to the computer. We then saw the makings of a very unique software package — one that would accurately assist every individual's search for the elusive (sexual) "10".

D B How does SM assist in one's search for a "perfect 10"?

SOG Through the use of the SEXUAL COMPATIBILITY, SINGLES QUESTIONAIRE, and MATCH MAKER a sexual profile is developed and stored on each individual. Through the use of MATE FINDER these profiles are compared and analized to find an individual's sexual compliment. And for those who are never satisfied with their first selection, two alternative choices are presented.

D B How else can SM be implemented?

SOG To liven up a party, you may want to try MATCH MAKER. This module does a group-match based on our mysterious "H" factor. This could have been called the "swinger's module".

D B What does the "H" represent?

SOG Ha! Ha!, that's our Horniness Factor.

D B Have you encountered any problems marketing SM?

SOG As you can see from the copyright notice, this program was actually developed in 1980. We'd like to say that it's been in test period since then, but that's not really the truth. We have approached several software companys with the idea of selling them the rights to the package, but we keep getting the same type of response. "We really enjoyed your program but it just isn't the type of software that we want to market. We would like to keep the copies that we used for review, however, so please send us a bill." It's just too bad that these companies can't realize that people buy home computers for enjoyment as well as business applications. Why shouldn't there be software aimed at the adult market?

D B What sort of response have you received from purchasers of SM?

SOG Basically SM has been very well received. We have had only one copy returned because a purchaser was offended by the sexual content of the program. We constantly hear how MATCH MAKER was run at a party and how the matching process has really brought the party to life.

D B Is the sexual content of the program really offensive?

SOG Let's put it this way, no one who reads Playboy, Penthouse, Playgirl or Cosmopolitan will run across any words or phrases that they haven't seen before. No, its not offensive. But, the software is geared to mature adults.

D B The first time we tried Sex Match we were prompted to enter a password. What is its significance?

SOG The password is your key to unlock the intimate secrets revealed to only the computer. This tells everything you've always wanted to know, but couldn't ask.

D B What else can we expect from S.O.G. SOFTWARE?

SOG We have recently released DO YOU DARE? — a party game that takes "PASS OUT" one step beyond. Two other packages are in the developmental stages and should be released before the end of the year.

ACCOLADES

SOFTPORN, TDB's winning software from last quarterly issue has been a zinger in getting its share of notoriety in the news media. Softporn was written up in Time Magazine including the prominent "centerfold" ad. Also, Genesis, a Gent's magazine picked up the "three girls in a tub" in a little change of action.

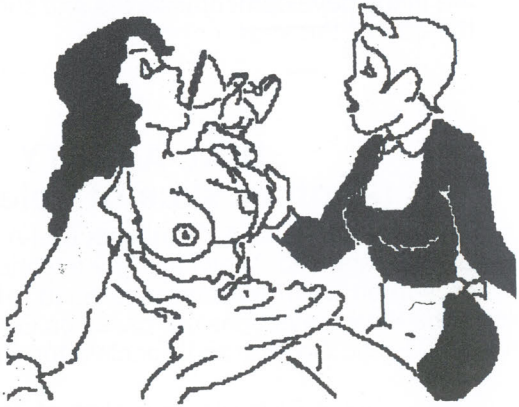
TDB was written up in Hustler, June Issue, but a gross mis-hap, in that the magazine purported that TDB contained listings of 40 erotic programs available for direct "Keying in" to home computers. Hustler readers subscribing were given a 2 issue for 1 offering in order to compensate for the misunderstanding.

Animated Sex Cartoons received a warm write up in Playboy's July "potpourri".

PLAYBOY POTPOURRI

HARD-CORE SOFTWARE

Years ago, the kind of comics men liked were stashed at the bottom of their underwear drawers. Today, they're the apple of an Apple II computer's eye. In other words, if you own an Apple II computer with a 48K memory disc, Computer Products International, 3225 Danny Park, New Orleans, Louisiana 70002, has available, for $25 each, four double-sided discettes (French Postcards, Bedtime Stories, Dirty Old Men and Comics, Old and New) of X-rated automated activity that will knock your black socks off. Very naughty, naughty, naughty.



The write up included the below still from an animated segment of "French Postcards" claiming "it would knock your socks off and that the series is very naughty, naughty, naughty.

The Playboy response has been exceedingly great including a request by the Playboy's channel "ESCAPADE" to exhibit the Animated Sex Cartoons to its select viewing audience.

One of this month's winners, STREET LIFE is also scheduled for several media write ups in Video Magazine and Playboy, etc.

Interlude was well written up in Money Magazine in the February issue.

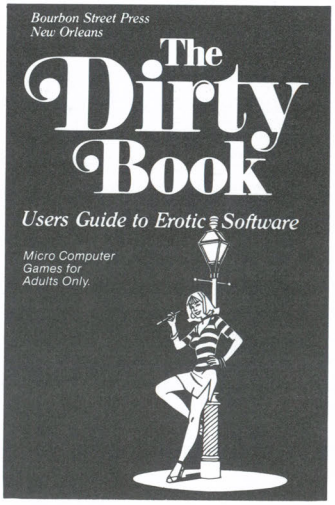
HUSTLER®



Computer Sex Software give you a hard-on? Then this magazine is right up your data base. It's called The Dirty Book and contains listings of 40 erotic programs. With the explosion in the home-computer business, the future of a publication like this is unlimited. And so are the possibilities. Each issue sells for $9.95, and you can obtain it from Bourbon Street Press (3225 Danny Park, New Orleans, LA 70002). Be sure to add $2 for postage.

LETTERS

Dear Dan,

I had considered advertising in the Dirty Book until I ordered one to find out more. I received Vol.2, No.1, liked the publication in general except for a few of your "Dirty" articles, such as "The Binary Hooker" in particular.

Here I am striving for creditability in a sea of old-fashioned "rip off" clubs and so I strike out in a new direction to enhance our reputation. No sooner than I do that and I find your Dirty Book putting services like mine, (and as far as I know, I am the only one to have combined DYM with mail order) back into the same class before I even have a chance in proving what we can do.

I consider that article to be a slur toward Dial-Your-Matches in general and towards Viva! La Difference! in particular. Your Dirty book is really just a Dirty Book when it comes to your reputation among DYM's.

Why should I waste money in your publication? Especially after that! I think you owe us DYM's a very good article backing our cause, and all the free advertising you can muster after all of the bad publicity. I don't go around putting thins like "What a raw deal the Dirty Book is!" on all the bulleting boards around the U.S. Maybe I should. I think you owe me an apology.

Dear Freinds,

As I sit here in our Europeanized mud hut I read July '82 PLAYBOY. I notized your advertisement for the X-RATED double-sided discettes. Since we will be in the States for Christmas and January, I would like to purchase one or two for my dear old dad and his Apple II.

Could you please send me more literature? But please — send it air mail — or else it won't make it her until next year.

Dear Friends,
Would it be possible to see a back issue? Our company works with computers in the fields of real estate, business, health education, and energy management. TDB:

I would like to thank you for recommending Strip Dice. My wife and I do a lot of entertaining in our hot tub. Generally our guests will undress in the bathroom and wear a towel to the tub. Friday night we had 3 couples over and I suggested we play Strip Dice in order to get undressed for tubbing. With 8 people playing, it took about an hour and a half for everyone to become certified naked. What a riot! I've played Strip Poker and several other adult games, but never have I enjoyed a game more. With Strip Dice not only do you have the suspence of wondering who will be exposed next but occasionally the computer will pick you to assist in the stripping of a fellow player. The computer calls everyone by name and tells you what to do and when to do it. Sure was fun being undressed by my neighbor Jane.

I noticed that the game comes with a program to change the penalty files. We came up with some great ideas that I'm going to enter for our next game.

I'll be anxious to hear about the new games you come up with.

Dear People,

Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the Law. I find it a sad commentary on our culture that a child may openly purchase & play war games on his/her computer, but is not permitted to purchase Erotic simulations.

Our religious commune has recently purchased (but not yet received delivery on) an IBM-PC system. If when you make your 'adult' adventure games available for our system we would be very interested in acquiring some (or all!) of them for use in our rec room.

Dear Dan,

Just a quick note to thank you for the tour of your company last week. I greatly enjoyed and was completely fascinated by the graphics in the program you showed me. You've taught an old dog new tricks. Taking the old flip card cartoons and displaying them on the computer is a refreshing twist for both the computer and the flip cards.

I understand Radio Shack is developing graphic basic for the model II. When that is available I hope you will be able to convert your programs so they will run on the TRS 80 II. I would love to have them for parties.

Holy, Moly! At age 66 my grandson treated me to a champion time seeing "Animated Sex by Computer." It reminded me so much of the Animated Flip Books of yester-year that we use to pass around in the country school yard. We have French Postcards and were so delighted that we looked forward to getting some of the others. It's a genuine pleasure to see how the generation gaps come together by such as plain ole good time sex.

DIRTY BIRD?? . . .

UCLA ornithologist, Javed Diamond recently encountered a long suspected extinct species of bird in New Guinea. The yellow-frouted gardener bowerbird has not been seen for almost 100 years.

The bird supports the idea that scientists have suspected and lovers have long been aware of. "The brighter your feathers, the greater the attraction, and the less work to get your mate.

To lure females, male bowerbirds build ornamented structures of twigs, ferns and moss some towering as high as eight feet. They further decorate their housing with hundreds of flowers and shiney objects.

The yellow-frouted bowerbird adds fruit to his adornment while doing a 20-minute mating dance. As the female looks on the male struts around the bower screeching and whistling.

Lesser ardent bowerbirds are successful in mating only once every 200 tries.

SEX EDUCATION WITH COMPUTERS

Perhaps the Best Way to Prepare Teenagers for What Lies Before Them

Teenagers and sex. It's long since passed the stage where our society, as a whole, can label it a problem. It would be safer to say that teenage sex has reached epidemic proportions. The so-called sexual revolution, which spawned in the 60's, has become a dangerous catalyst to teenagers of the '70's and now the '80's.

Too often parents, who should be a teenager's guiding light when it comes to sex education, fail to provide their sons or daughters with adequate information about the emotions and responsibilities that go with sexual activity. In fact, a recent report showed that only 12% of teenagers said their parents had ever discussed sex with them. Consequently, teens plow into sexual relationships with reckless abandon, without ever being sure of their convictions. Parents who avoid informing their children about birth control are not protecting them, and even more importantly, they're inviting trouble. Skyrocketing pregnancy rates among teenagers attest to the fact that teens are grossly misinformed about sex (of the one million teenagers who become pregnant each year, nearly 600,000 of them give birth — that's more than double the number in 1960.)

If you're still not totally convinced that we're looking at a problem, perhaps these alarming statistics will further illuminate our fears:

(1) 60% of American teenagers have their first sexual experience while still in high school.
(2) 30% of these kids are between the ages of 13 and 15.
(3) 73% of this number do not seek any information about birth control before their next sexual encounter (only one out of every four boys discuss birth control with their fathers).
(4) Only 10% of these teens report receiving a formal, organized sex-education program through their schools.
(5) Only 12% of these teenagers say their parents have ever discussed sex with them.
(6) One federal center of disease control in a major American city reported over 260,000 cases of gonorrhea and syphilis in youths aged from 19 years old down AS YOUNG AS 10 YEARS OLD!!

Scary? You bet. But this is just another gray area where a computer literate public can aggressively tackle this almost-insurmountable problem. There are many plusses in allowing a child to learn about sex with the aid of a computer. For instance:

(1) Absence of problematic peer pressure — The awareness of the pressue that boys and girls put on themselves to eventually pair up and have sex can be dramatically lessened with the use of a computer to aid in sex education. Instead of being in a crowded classroom where the mere mention of sex starts minds clicking, students can learn what they want to know in an isolated atmosphere without anyone looking over their shoulders.

(2) Sex education with a computer can be fun — Since there are many students who (a) don't feel they are ready to learn about sex education, (b) don't want to learn about sex education and (c) don't want to find the time to learn about sex education, then computers can be the perfect instrument for them to break the ice and take the time to learn. Since computers are obviously fun to operate in addition to being great tools for learning, we can't help but feel that teenagers would be much more interested in learning about sex with a computer rather than in a tension-filled, crowded classroom. Remember, sex education can also be fun while being informative.

(3) Students can avoid embarassment — Oftentimes teenagers have a particular question in mind that they want to know about, but are too embarassed to ask. This happens particularly in group sessions among peers. If they feel that others are going to poke fun at them for what they feel is innocuous, then they won't ask. And by not asking, they won't find out what they need to know . . . perhaps until it is too late. With computers, this embarassment is altogether eliminated. Computers won't laugh or poke fun. And they can be asked nearly anything and come up with the answers a teenager wants to know. And computers can be both graphic and explicit. All in all, it's just the safest, most informative way to teach a teenager all he or she needs to know about nature's wonders.

The Dirty Book

There are very few programs available in the computer industry dealing with sex education. In all deference to the manufacturers who have marketed these educational programs, we will list only those programs that we know about. If we by some chance leave out any such programs, let us know and we'll mention these programs in a future issue. This article is the first of a series. All contributions are welcome.

SEX DISK by Avant-Garde Creations for the Apple II. It consists of six skill games uniquely making the subject matter interesting while each module on sex has adquate text reading about each of the six games.

BIRTH CONTROL by Personal Software pertains to conception and birth preventive methods.

GROWING UP by Personal Software is about changes in adolescent behavior explaining puberty, contraception, sexual development and pregnancy.

TALKING ABOUT SEX by Personal Software describes myths and misconceptions concerning sex and discussions in the aire of personal sexual problems.

Each of the three above are designed by VITAFACTS as part of its series of Health Education Programs.

The programs reviewed are on cassette tape for the Apple, TRS-80 and PET. Included with each series is two audio cassette tapes accompanying each program with lively oral discussion pertaining to the subject matter. These programs were excellently designed to stengthen one's knowledge by using quiz programs on your computer.

DIRTY GRITS

½ cup Milk
1 Tbsp Salt
1 cup Quick cooking Grits
½ cup Margarine
½ cup melted Butter
2 Eggs, beaten
⅔ package Garlic Cheese, finely diced
2-3 cups Corn Flakes, crushed

Combine in casserol ½ cup boiling water, milk, salt, grits, margarine, eggs and half the cheese. Stir over low heat until cheese melts, top with corn flakes; pour butter over all. Sprinkle with remaining cheese.

Cook in 350° oven for 45 minutes, serves six. Sprinkle crushed Black Pepper over each serving.

THE INTIMATE COMPUTER

Feet winging, heart singing, flying through the door,
So happy, piled with boxes from Computer Store,
Computer and printer, he spent his whole roll,
It's heaven to him, gives food to his soul.

No other, (his mother, his kid or his wife),
Claims such devotion, nor meaning for life.
To enter the "center" is lifes greatest joy,
Providing a pleasure, from his new bought toy.

Pulsating, awaiting his gentle commands,
The rig seems to recognize capable hands.
Confident, competent, he flits here and there,
Getting things ready with such tender care.

Drives counted, console mounted, all ready to go,
He pauses a moment, his features aglow.
Serenely, routinely he pushes the "start".
And it's just about then that things fly apart!

The tube on the console makes a weird display,
And in momentary panic his feet turn to clay.
He's unable to move and unable to speak,
As the computer poops out with a pitiful squeak.

Head ringing, eyes stinging, he goes for the switch,
Knocking down power on his "Beautiful Bitch".
Then waking, hands shaking, his temper gives way,
The curses start flying while all goes astray,

He curses the keyboard, the disc drives as well,
He curses the printer, consigns it to hell;
He curses the program, and still quite untiring;
He curses the chips, the salesman, the wiring;
He curses the present, he curses the future;
He curses the first day he saw a computer;
At last, quite exhausted he falls to the floor;
Unable to utter one little curse more.

Bedevilled, dishevilled, his face chalky white,
Eyes bloodshot, tongue lolling, a pitiful sight.
It's over, all over, the battle is done,
'Twixt man and machine the computer has won.

ON-LINE DATING

DEB PETERS

When we were kids in grammar school I always enjoyed the innovative teachers who urged the class to write letters to important business and government people. We would all have such a fine and wonderful feeling when the teacher would read back the responses. Other stimulating instructors ventured us into "pen pal" activity. That was really great when letters from so many different states and even different countries came postmarked to our class. It was even more exciting when I would receive a letter from a "pen pal" addressed to Miss Debra Schroeder. I got hooked on the idea and maintained communication with several of the more interesting boys and girls. As much as I enjoyed the interaction, slowly one by one, due to changes of interest and life styles, the writing ceased.

In college, when someone suggested a computerized dating service to try, I was one of the most vehement decliners. I felt that indeed I should be able to find my own boys without degrading myself by submitting to filling out an answer form to be keyed into come computer bank and churned around with all the other milling frustrated names.

No, I said, computer dating is definitely out.

Following several male encounters that were physically stimulating and one failing marriage, I resorted to meeting guys like all the rest of us gals, by visiting the Singles Bars. There was always a lot of action. However, to keep from seeming easy or brazen I had to cloak myself with a lot of defense shields which I later realized advocated a different me . . . cold and severe. Not caring to drink too much and not being the best dancer, caused me to sit back with alertful reserve.

I always enjoyed myself but my one-and-only didn't show up and I wasn't in for a steady stream of one-niter "rolls in the sack." I got to thinking that this selection process wasn't working. Oh! a lot of interesting fellows but no chemistry reaction. Was I trying too hard? Did I expect too much? Should I join in the swing and change my attitudes? Should I move to a new territory? Change my job? My hair style?

There were plenty of guys but where was the interaction? Alone and within my thoughts I remembered the pen pal days and wondered if I should try that?

On attending a wine tasting party in the apartment complex lounge I discovered a memo on the bulletin board which detailed a computer matching service and another on electronic mail. In pondering the problem I realized that a new solution actually exists in the blending of computer selection with human selection.

Computer Dating that mailed a list of names and numbers based off of a minimum of 15 guaranteed names being sent to each respondee turned me off. But now a person could procede through the selection processes like waving a "devining rod" looking for water, but then further penetrate the prospects with electronic mail or direct on-line digitized communication.

A person, once floating in a Data Bank (one commercial calls it a "Date-A-Base") is assured no greater success than maneuvering through singles bars. However, the opportunity of changing or refining your personal profile will let you narrow in to the best target subject you wish to meet. Also, experience has it where at the singles bar the commentary usually runs like, "Gee!, you should have seen the hunk of beef that just walked out!", or "My word the other night was fantastic; many more good looking men than I've seen in a long time."

Contrary to this, the Computer Data Bank is always loading in new opportunities by mail or by phone. It stands to reason that the larger the data base, the more selection opportunity exists. But then if you have access to a computer you can send memos to your profile compatibles. This reminds me of my "pen pal" days. Therefore, a more humanistic screening develops whereby further interchange by direct on-line contact can take place. You may call this "electronic foreplay". The significance is that even if a person is not home or available, you can still leave "mail" in their "box".

Computer Dating can be an easy way to "meet" new people without the worry of that "first impression." Anonimity is always maintained unless one volunteers their own identity. Passwords and first names or other codes are the rule providing each person a guarded reserve until they wish direct social contact.

After that, dear computerist, you're on your own. Computer dating services are growing up and as inexpensive as these services have become, their success can only be attributed to the clientele who solicite these partner selection processes using modern electronic communication and computers.

Rx: COMPUTER THERAPY

"Good afternoon, Doctor."

"Hello, Cathy. Lie down on the couch in front of the computer."

"Thank you. Doctor, I am comfortable now."

"Now, Cathy, at last meeting you mentioned a new relationship with two gentlemen. Please go on."

"Well, Doctor, after several martinis these two well speaking gentlemen grabbed my bod and suggested an upstairs visit to their room...."

A practicing psychiatrist from New York state refers to this type of conversational exchange between patient and computer a new "science" called PSYCHOTRONICS.

Asimilating the dynamics of human relationships into this computer program allows the patient to work out his or her own problems in a programmed simulation. This induces the patient to play a game where by the computer makes use of certain kinds of interpretations and kindles a life like conversation whereby the patient sees things about their problems that they never realized before.

The program creates a profile of the patient based on the menu selections originally learned in the data base by responding to the Master Menu. This program was designed specifically to deal with certain mental illnesses or neuroses, such as depression.

This initial endeavor should open new vistas for therapeutic analysis and treatment where the computer and patient may develop the conversation trend with the posibility of more comfort for the patient and therefore eliciting more honest and more responsive rapport. The patient can discuss real life activity mixed in with expressions from fantasies; fears and yearnings.

For example:

Rx: Tell me more.

Cathy: I invited them into every crevice.

Rx: Did you enjoy?

Cathy: No, they raped me, they beat me, they ravished me.

Rx: You said you invited them willingly.

Cathy: No, yes, no, I don't remember.

Rx: That's enough for now, Cathy. Breath deeply and rest.

According to the psychiatrist, all therapy is an attempt to get people to get a fresh view of their problems. Like most forms of therapy it can only elicit an approximation of how people really feel. It's hard to profile a person who doesn't answer the questions honestly.

It was always stated that honesty must always at least be preserved for three people; your lawyer, your minister, and your doctor,....Now a fourth------your computer.

BON APPETITE

Every country has its own cuisine, and it is a remarkable fact that this cuisine puts man on a higher level than the rest of the animal kingdom. Indeed, when scientists find anthropoid remains during their excavations, the answer to whether they are dealing with big apes or primitive men is usually given by traces of an oven and calcinated bones found on the site. Because man is the only animal that cooks.

Cooking has certainly progressed since these primitve ages, but nevertheless, some of the methods in use today, such as grilling and barbecueing, were already known to Neanderthal man 200,000 years ago. Cooking has become inventive and elaborate, and has given birth to such marvels as the cassoulet, boeuf bourguignon and coq au vin, those crown jewels of French cuisine; and the sea urchin tart, the squid and red bean stew, and the manicou fricassee in the French Caribbean.

The French further enchanced their own outstanding cuisine with the great abundance found in Louisiana — the herbs, seafood, game, meat, vegetables and fruits. The Spanish added zest and the old Negro mammy, a touch of magic with her knowledge and use of herbs.

The River Road, from Baton Rouge along the Mississippi River to New Orleans, is a section famous for good cooking, which is so much a part of our heritage and tradition here in Louisiana. Our culinary history is old. Influenced principaly by the French and Spanish, it is Creole Cooking. And it is truly Southern!

South Louisians today are proud of this heritage — cooking that is truly an art. Delightful creations such as gumbos and crayfish bisque, court-bouillons and jambalayas, shrimp Creole, hushpuppies, pralines and just a good cup of coffee — these are all distinctly ours to share.

Creole Cuisine — what a story those two words have to tell! Perhaps no other region of the United States has made such a way of life out of the preparation and consumption of food. It is not a matter just for the great restaurants (of which we have many), but even more a concern of the small cafes and seafood establishments, and the gourmet and dinner clubs which abound.

Conversations about food may be reminiscent of a certain perfect dish, once tasted but never forgotten. On the other hand, they may be loudly argumentative — should the gumbo be thickened with okra or with filé, a matter on which reputations have been staked, friendships strained and good taste questioned.

Louisiana's love affair with food began early in its history when colonial settlers arrived from France and Spain. Each brought his own flair with food and adapted it to available local ingredients, thus producing the renowned Creole Cuisine. In the mid-eighteenth century, the Acadians (French Catholics who were expelled from Nova Scotia, Canada) began their long search for a home. Many of them migrated to south Louisiana where their descendants, familiarly called Cajuns, live today. They developed an art of cookery, particularly specializing in the preparation of the myriad seafoods which le bon Dieu provided and from which many of them made their living. This style of cooking has survived as the unique legacy of "Acadian Cooking." Also adding flavor to the Louisiana cooking are the German, Hungarian and other European settlers who arrived in this area. Their traditions have been enriched by the African and West Indian influences in the state, giving the cuisine a more exotic flavor than traditional American cookery.

Typical of Louisiana cuisine is the classic dish of jambalaya — that rich amalgamation of rice, onions, meat, seafood, seasonings and imagination — served regularly in so many area homes. There is a famous story, recently recounted by author Harnett Kane, about the good Louisiana Frenchman who died and went to Heaven. On discovering that the celestial kitchens had somehow neglected to include jambalaya in their menu, but that it was available down below, he promptly departed from Paradise — proving that a good Louisianian will gladly go to Hell for a dish of jambalaya.

More specifically is the pride and enthusian of the chefs in each of the kitchens at the abundant restaurants who willingly invite you to inspect their kitchens for cleanliness and aromas and the preparation of bouillabaisse, etouffe, ratatouille, roti, hors d'oeuvres and appetizers and scrumptious desserts of excellence, mmmmm-mm good!

As Jenny was dining with Drew,
Found Wang in her elephant stew;
said her boyfriend, "Dont' shout —
And don't wave it about —
Or the others will want one too."

ROBOTIC ADVICE

Dear Captain Eros:

Just between you and me and nothing under the covers — I love my wife — but I have to look at "me" first — and when I do that, I often think, realize or assume that I, me, myself is no different than my wife or any girlfriend or mutual mate that I have experienced.

I don't want my wife to force herself on some other guy promiscuosly; so what makes me feel that just because I'm male that I am obligated or assume some inherited (wisdom) (need)? "macho-nonsense", that I have to make this chick tonite. But if my wife was in this situation she must not, will not, feel not the requirement to have "compromised sex".

Listen to these thoughts provoking my head...

Let me just cop a feel!! Let me just rub your nub. How about a job on the nob.
A little peel on the reel. Lick your tick. Suck your bucket.
I'm afraid of VD, Herpes, etcetera.
Regardless, I'm Super Macho! — I'm going to make it with Betty, Jane or Mary
I'm sorry, Betty, Jane and Mary
My wife better as hell not make it with Tom, Dick or Harry or for that matter Bob, Jim Or John
Not without my mind getting extremely hung up and making it again with Betty, Jane, or Mary.

The BITCH, going with her for 3 years, I suggested a threesome with my buddy, after 3 weeks of no, no, no, she finally agreed...It seemed half hearted but after a couple of drinks she banged and balled my buddy like all hell let out...I asked her later how she liked it and she said "twas OK but that she loved me and liked it better with me. Hell, the way she rocked and rolled, it's hard to believe.

Running into my buddy two days later, I succombed to an all-niter and over a morning "Bloody Mary" my buddy asked me "how was she"?...I said, "Great! Wonderful! Fan-Tas-Tic!

He replied, "I meant your wife, this chick I had tonite was so-so, but your wife really sends me... Yeah, she knows how to send a guy!"

At home — after a week of brooding from my wife — I finally made love to her. She was so kind, so wonderful, so on to me, so caressing and tender, so damned great!! She made me feel good!

Running into my buddy a week later, he again asked how my wife was? I asked... "Why?"...He said, he'll always remember that when "crowned", she kept saying "I like this best of all" — I then recalled the past week — she also told me "I like this best of all"

I had to, felt compelled to, was challenged to, required to...find out if my wife "really loved me" (or did she secretly want somebody else.)

It only took me a week to cajole her, to brow beat her, to force her...to repeat the experience with my buddy.

She said "no", but that didn't convince me. In fact, she came up with some bull story of a headache and one of the kids needed some doctoring up. But after a couple of drinks — there she was, holding on to his "pride" like any common whore I ever saw.

I haven't made love to her in three months. She's even ruined my desire to make it with the chicks at the office. Frankly, its all her fault; and I don't know what to do. I don't have the guts to leave her, because "I love her so"!

But, I can't stand a bitch who will make it with another guy!

Mad Macho

Dear M & M

Melts in your mind, also in your mouth! I recommend that you spend a week alone in a motel and for penance, read the Yellow Pages.

SEXTIPARA n: a woman who has given birth to children each time in six preganancies.

MATHEMATICAL MATING

When a man and a woman become one, this is sex. As a whole, our nation has an enormous preoccupation with sex. In fact, the American tendency is to associate a sexual connotation or value with almost everything.

Americans, both male and female tend to keep score cards on their sexual activities. How much? How many? How often? How long? Therefore, sex becomes not so much a matter of quality but quantity. Less concern is given for how endearing, how loving or how great.

Sex is regarded more as a sport such as a tennis game of singles, second serve, or mixed doubles where the score is a love match. To score is the name of the game. Swingers are indeed welcome.

We are a nation that continues to assemble surveys in order to ascertain what is normal or average. New surveys are always being taken to determine the etiquette as to whether men and women should bed down on the first date or wait until their second or third. Surveys on Breast size, Penis size, number of orgasms, duration of fore-play and any other measurements immaginable are frequently taken. These surveys are then used by us individually in order to compete against or measure up to.

A female person to be considered average, can actually say that she has a 34.36578 bust, lost her virginity at age 16 years, 3 months, 4 days, twenty-two minutes and 5 seconds. She has a 32.9199 percentile tendency towards homosexuality, will be married 2.1667 times and uses vibrators halfway between seldom and not so often. By age 24; she has had 46 miles, 306 feet and 2¾ inches of pulsating penis penetration; she has an average of .9767 orgasms per trip and has had relations with 5.1342 mates of the opposite sex. She has read 101 Joys of Sex, uses Vari-colored pills in order to avoid counting, doesn't believe in Love Triangles, but not opposed to threesomes and her favorite numbers are 69, 10½ and 143.

But, it is not just a meat market where success is an end in itself only at the risk of the joylessness of coupling. His or her name not to be remembered and his or her face may fade away. However, even numbered anonimity is preferred over absolute anonimity.

SEX — COMPUTER STYLE

Mathematical mating is joining the computer revolution across the continent. Sex—American-Style, French-Style, Italian-Style, or otherwise-Style is being improved upon or enhanced by computer manipulation.

Match making by computer was first introduced by Art Linkletter on TV in the early 50's using the first commercial computer, the UNIVAC. Computer dating has prevailed over these many years.

Just as Hugh Hefner with the introduction of his "Playboy Magazine", the Playboy Clubs and the Playboy philosophy opened the door to other men's magazines such as "Penthouse", "Genesis", "Hustler", "Gallery", and including the ladies' magazines such as "Playgirl", etc.

Prior to these magazines, men, young and old, could only look to "Esquire" magazine and the "Vargas" Calendar Girl for libido stimulation.

With the introduction of computer matching and computer dating, the science of electronics has been drafted to its ultimate use. Such electronic devices as video cassette recorders and micro computers have become new bed fellows suited to sexual stimulation as a means to add variety and enhancement to the sex games of men and women.

Video Recorder's displaying sexual antics and amour au natural allows whatever film selection best fitting the mood. when one wants to procede to mimic what's on film, nothing is lost during the heat of diversion because you can always call for an instant replay upon fulfilling your personal performance. More and more women are enjoying the so-called Blue movies as a mood setting. One need not keep an open eye on the screen to appreciate the video tape's audio oohs and aahs and other breathing exercises and deep throated utterances of passion.

With the increase of computer users into such applications as Electronic Mail and Computer Bulletin Boards, more and more communication arts are being called into service to aid Cupid in the game of Sexual Conquest.

Microcomputers do not necessarily sit in every bedroom at this time, but if one wants to approach sex from a point of compatibility selection or attitudinal selection a microcomputer is a certainty.

Computer Programs used to help couples emote sensually would be such as the following:

Using the program INTERLUDE allows a couple to be provided with new settings, positions or varieties in order to add pizzazz.

SEX-COMPUTER STYLE (continued from 31)

ENCOUNTER is great when one of the parties wants to inject a fantasy into the evenings play or inject a particular innovative sexual exercise into the sensual parlor. (This is great for surprises)

RAUNCHY RYTHYMS can render compatibility ratios on a day by day basis to allow both parties a biorythmic suggestion of their sensual senses and passionate pleasures.

LOVE QUOTIENT can help singles select their ideal mate in order to increase the quality of matching for likeness and suitability.

LOVERS or STRANGER'S questions your likes and dislikes in order to determine your compatibility relationship.

Ice breaker programs would fall in the category of the computer graphics such as the Animated Sex Cartoon series of COMIX ILLUSTRATED, BEDTIME STORIES, FRENCH POST CARDS or DIRTY OLE MAN. Of a toned down version of graphics would be WANNA PLAYFOOTSIE or ZESTY ZODIAK. seX-RATED is another goodie.

For ADULT group situations PORNOPOLY is useful, however STRIP DICE is most beneficial for the social event that takes into consideration the shy persons who would prefer to accept the penalty of a drink rather than divest a garment. However, for the lusty persons who rather prepare for skinny dipping, the game STRIP DICE prints out an official certificate processed atuomatically from the computer for remembrance of the occassion.

SEX MATCH and a wilder version called SWINGER'S WILD can properly help match the members of the social event to meet their ideal mate for the evening by matching their compatibilities based on 25 questions.

Sexual preoccupation of the mind can best be satisfied by such stimulating programs as the Adventure Fantasy called SOFT PORN or the other mental exercises in LIMERICKS, ABUSE, GRAFFITI or SOFT CORN.

BAWDY ADVENTURE and LET'S PRETEND are also for singles. For a switch, CONQUEST and SEX DISK let you get to use the computer's Joy Stick. PERSONAL SEX TEST is also for loners.

However if you want to get into using both the Joy Stick and your intellect for Game play then STREET LIFE is right down your alley. That is if you're a good alley cat in the pursuit of sexual humor and making a dollar.

You may pursue Bio-Sex with RAUNCHY RHYTHMS or Astro-Sex with SEX-O-SCOPE.

All in all, Sex and Electronics are progressing to promote new dimensions in visual and audio senses in addition to the expansion of innovative concepts. Video recorders are passive in their use because one may just lay back and relax; whereas the computer is more active in that with the exception of the Graphic programs, all the rest require interactive activity and thought provocation calling for a decision.

Eventually there will be a marriage of Video Recorders with microcomputers. This should lead to some interesting program production.

TERMINAL LANGUAGE

EPISODE II

Armand Matters

— Review:

Both Deeres were Systems Engineers from Argentina where Mother Deere had courted the instrument of her sexual fantasy. In nostalgic revelrie, she recalled the first time that she had stroked Father Deere's manly wand. It was a huge appendage having a hand-held computer terminal imbedded in it by his mother at birth. As Mother Deere fondeled his input device, his excitement could hardly be contained. They had to have immediate fulfillment; so they sought consumation in the mating house.

She would often climax in anticipation of his inserting his tumescent terminal, rigid with digitized pressure buttons. As her body consumed the last key button, a true harmony of communication enthralled them both. He would slowly perform at 300 Baud. As the Baud rate increased to 9600, both experienced multiorgasmic throes of passion climaxing with physical mental, and emotional exhaustion.

Father Deere had been recruited to supervise the construction of the new underground complex for the Chrysler Computer Corporation. The host computer was to relay all galactic weather conditions and provide a lead time projection of impending catostrophic storms to all orbiting planets and ships in the CCC network. Mother Deere was given security clearance in order to provide back-up to this project. (often, when mating couples had the same intellect and training, one would become project support to the other.)

There was very little time for relax periods and since each was support for the other at the CCC project, it wasn't often that they were together. Father Deere therefore took the opportunity to escape to the ASNEM meetings which were held monthly in strict confidence by its membership. If the CCC society were to become aware of these clandestine meetings, they would move swiftly to anialate all members and their families including children.

In attending the last few monthly meetings, he was astonished by feelings of new and different rapacious delights. The unusual sentient emotions that Father Deere recently experienced was a deep down piercing penetration of gonadal tingling within his terminal attachment. He was sure that someone was tapping in on his appendage, because of the involuntary spasms of near climax that were intruding his ceremonial chants.

The membership abided to strict secrecy, masked and hooded for non-identity-disclosure. The membership data base was hidden away in a memory bubble neatly tucked away in a maze of thousands of other similar bubbles; all shifting and orbiting around the ASNEM data base Central. In order to win automatic unsolicited membership, it was necessary that one be born of supreme intelligence and amazing skills of mental-physical coordination and response. The pretender for membership had to skillfully guide his/her "Super Id" through the moving nuclear maze of four dimensional free floating memory bubbles. Once a Pretender successfully guided their "Id" through the first three sectors of their memory maze, they reached a point-of-no-return and were committed to successful completion or auto-destruction. Less than one percent of those participating players of this "PACMAN-LIKE" penetration were able to succeed in the selection processes. Never did a Pretender of competition actually know that he was dynamically being drawn into a life or death game of play. Even success meant that the winning combatant forever afterwards lived in a conditional state of ecstasy by breaching death if the higher order ASNEM security system's "fail safe" program was invaded by the outside Society.

This evening particularly perturbed him as he webbed his thoughts concerning the hooded mysterious femme who so meticulously fondled his communication device. As she approached him, he drew her back to the ante chamber and molded his arms around her. Their bodies flew into one another like cosmic bar magnets imploding at contact. He was greatly aroused and wanted to cry out. They kissed and leaped at each other. He could feel her teeth pressing hard against his lips. The base of his spine felt aglow with hot coals as his terminal slowly transmorgrified itself into a thrusting probing beast attacking a sacrificial virgin. The would be Seduc-tress was now being seduced as her knees buckled and she sagged against his blustering probe. She devoured his throbing terminal with her lips while palate stroking his keys as she simultaneously held on to him tightly. All frequencies nerve alerted to stand by condition. she wrapped her tongue stealthily around the probing end of his shaft causing him to go delirious. He bent down, scooped her into his arms and carried her to a blanketed shelf in the outer chamber where he let her drop. She bounced once, as he simultaneously pounced on her. Excepting face masks and hoods, they peeled clothing off as they squirmed hotly against one and other.

As he entered her, a flood of energy ensued as time slowed almost to a complete stop. The mounting crest of orgasm lifted them to the very tip of an eternal crescendo with lusty moans. His terminal keys vibrated emitting into her love chalice his ejaculatory man juices filling her to the brim of delirium. She crushed his chest and face with fists of exhaltation. His hood flew away as he ducked trying to conceal his identity.

The ASNEM chapel ceremony ended with an obligation that caused the lovers to hurriedly dress and rush out to participate in the exciting chorus of hooded members.

He was gleeful about the evening but mortified because by ASNEM oath, discovery meant that forever after this wonderous, mysterious and comforting lady must not ever see him again. He must remain apart in order to protect themselves. At least he had Mother Deere who so challengingly lifted his libido. It was unforturnate that they didn't have much time to get together.

Mother Deere arriving home was filled with grief. She fell asleep weeping. She wakened as Father Deere silently stole between the sheets, she waited for him to succomb to sleep. With tears in her eyes, she was compelled to honour the ASNEM oath and without revealing her own identity as the Seductress, she had to forever remain from his bed and company. She couldn't forgive herself the infidelity much less the shock to find that her new lover of lust was also her own mate. She couldn't have known that Father Deere was also a member of ASNEM. She realized that she must depart and elected the seclusion with the CCC nuclear plant project. She had assigned herself to permanent work command.

Father Deere, confused, was left disordered, thinking that his betrayal caused her to take leave. His mate, she was lost to him forever. Abandoned and lonely, only to reminisce in memories of two wonderfully exciting women; one his mating partner and the other, a new found mystery mistress.

Mother Deere successfully maneuvered to become lead analyst on the CCC project and was relocated to separate executive quarters of supervisory domain. She was very pleased and delighted in finding that her body had become invaded with the stirrings of a new soul. She was now cradeling an origin life form.

This is the second episode of TERMINAL LANGUAGE! What fate will befall Mother Deere? — And Father Deere, to what is his future, with no more birds in hand? Will the ASNEMIAN Order discover the intimacies of these two? Can the Deere's find replacement partners for conjugal exercise? — Yes, my friend, only, the TARO knows!!

Look for the next palpitating episode in the next quarterly TDB. We're rapidly approaching a thrilling climax.

RAPED, SCREWED OR SHAFTED?
IF SO, READ ON . . .

MEMO TO: Computerist

SUBJECT: Early Retirement

The company will apply a new program to all departments, starting the first of the month. Due to Reaganomics, the program is designed to phase out as many of existing departments as possible (although no official announcement has been made). This will be designated as "Retire All Personnel Early" RAPE. Computerists who are RAPED will have the opportunity to seek other employment Those who decline to seek other employment will be able to request a review of their records before discharge. This phase of the cutback is dubbed "Survey Of Capabilities Of Retired Early Workers", or SCREW.

One last chance is promised by the company to computerist employees who have been RAPED or SCREWED. They may appeal for a final review. "Study By Higher Authority Following Termination"', or SHAFT. Employees who are RAPED may be allowed only one additional SCREWING, but may request the SHAFT as many times as they desire.

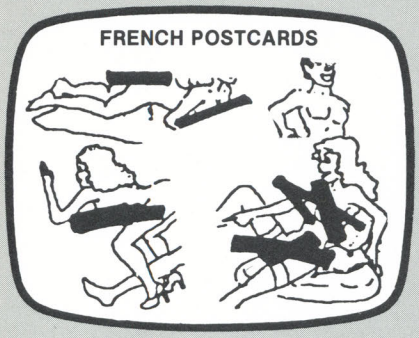
ANIMATED SEX CARTOONS



Remember the little booklets whose pages you thumbed to see the animated cartoons? Here are up-to-date versions which will knock your socks off. These cartoons are definitely x-rated starting with an introduction then flipping from page to page as the story develops. The animation techniques are great and the sound that accompanies the action is a riot.

FRENCH POSTCARDS. The Riviera never had it so good as pliant, yet plural, girls and boys manipulate fun at the beach and in the boudoir.

BEDTIME STORIES. Some of these have to be fantasy only or + all fish stories. Everyone has had a hospital bed or a romp in the sack.

DIRTY OLD MEN. What was good for good old dad is good enough for me. He can teach you a few tricks in these whopping episodes of amorous and lusty adventure.

COMICS, OLD AND NEW. Yea! They are back! Comics from the past and current favorites too. The ones that used to be hidden in pop's top drawer come out of the closet.

A POEM FOR ADULT COMPUTER KOOKS

I thought I'd write a poem
To describe your magazine
It's not slutty, filthy, or dirty
Though to some, it's still obscene.
No centerfolds with open twats,
No tits or ass galore,
No people essins,
No people effins.
What pervert could ask for more?

No commercials for T-shirts and lingerie,
And no sexual aids or such,
No girls who go for sensual games,
With whom——by phone——to touch!
Yea, new ideas for computer things,
Yea, articles and games of lust.
But why not games for Lesbian love....
(These programs certainly or a must!)

So why should I keep this magazine,
Who's jokes are quite so corny?
There are no girls in your empty pages,
With which, for me, to be horny!
But here's the order for a new subscription,
Would you send same over by truck?
Included, is my program order,
Without which, my computer will not f____k!!

I/O DEVICES

Presidents, Kings and Popes have been dealing with the ABORTION issue for centuries. Great controversy has and still exists in the legal, religious, moral and personal implications involving abortion. In organization to express their interest, the Women's Liberation Movement has made great strides to advance the cause of Legalized Abortion.

In this regard, churches and other groups took the opposition to abortion by organizing the Right to Life action groups.

As a partial solution by contraception, various items and methods have been used for centuries. ———And now the Computer Age brings us a "Contraceptive Computer". This Contraceptronics device is of particular interest to Catholics because it follows what is called the "rhythm system", which is the only approved method for that religious faith. It is also, sometimes called the Temperature Method.

The specially designed and specially programmed computer causes the lady to take her temperature daily. The thermometer is an input device and the computer will remind you to take your reading daily, lest you forget. The computer, with its temperature readings, can accurately determine the ladies' cycle in order to control the fertile periods and indicate the "safe" periods.

The pilot computer has been tested with 98% accuracy and is now commencing production with a recommended list price below $300.00.

There's something about that prone position.

Atari sues over sex games used on home video consoles

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — Atari Inc., a leading manufacturer of home video equipment, said Friday it has taken legal action against sex-theme games created for use on Atari consoles.

"Atari, like the general public, is outraged by this conduct and we are taking the initiative by filing this suit," said Michael Moone, president of Atari's consumer electronics division.

Moone didn't give specifics about the legal action in a brief news release, and Atari spokeswoman Karen Esler declined to elaborate.

Atari said it is taking action against the manufacturer of the game cartridges, American Multiple Industries, and the distributor, Mystique.

"This is the first I've heard of it," said Michael Weingart, a vice president for American Multiple, who otherwise declined to comment.

The controversial games were unveiled Wednesday by American Multiple, headquartered in Northridge. The cartridges sell for $49.95 each.

The release of the games prompted a demonstration Friday in New York City by about 100 people from a woman's group and a group of American Indians. One of the three games, "Custer's Revenge," was on display at an audio-visual show there.

Kristen Reilly of Women Against Pornography said the game, in which Custer crosses an obstacle course to engage in sex with an Indian woman, is one of "attack and rape."

Michael Bush of the American Indian Community House said the game provides "a reinforcement of the stereotyping of American Indians as something less than human."

The game's creator, Joel Miller, denied in New York that Custer rapes the woman. "He's seducing her, but she's a willing participant."

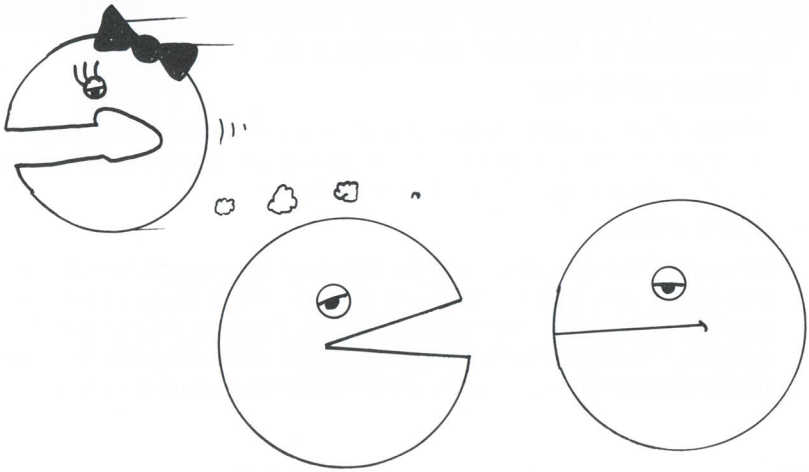
Stuart Kesten, president of American Multiple, said he does not consider the games pornographic and won't withdraw them. Reached in New York before the announcement of the suit but after Atari had complained about the games, Kesten said, "We just couldn't see adults playing with spaceships anymore."

The games will be available nationally within two weeks, and he expects a half-million will be sold by Christmas, he said.

Atari, a subsidiary of Warner Communications, said it "does not condone or approve of this use of its home video game technology, which was designed for wholesome family entertainment."

The games are the first offered by American Multiple, a year-old company whose only business until recently was the manufacture of plastic video and audio cassette storage cases.

American Multiple's are the first known adult games created for use on Atari equipment.



She's a real hit over at Donky Kong!

THE GAMES PEOPLE PLAY

Since the introduction of the first home video games early last decade and Space Invaders in 1978, video gaming has reached a natonal pastime with phenomonal acceptance. Not to be found just in arcades but also in saloons, restaurants, airports, bus stations, etc.

Anti-gamists state addiction, compulsiveness, escape from reality, dehumanization and anti-social value development as significant factors to contend with.

This of course doesn't eliminate the consideration that the average machine collects about $150 per week with hundreds of thousands of machines installed and more being created in mass production.

Further, this doesn't take into consideration the even greater volume of home and business computers that are very inviting instruments for games. Not only can the home computer play such games as skill, strategy, adventure, simulation, education; but now even "love games".

The Pro-gamists state that in addition to better use of idle time, a person gains hand-eye coordination and response, logical reasoning, computer awareness, and that the real reason should be just plain enjoyment. Let's review elements that will increase the success fact since we all realize that winning is always a major consideration for applying so much time. In order to "win" at arcade games lets compare and evaluate as it would be to "scoring" at love games. The following "Seven Stages to Mastery" may help us all.

1. RECONNAISSANCE

   Watch other players, experienced and inexperienced. Observing other beginners you will learn the games pitfalls; by watching the experts you will learn how to avoid them.

2. TEAM WORK

   Once you have decided on a game to play, you need a friend. Game mastery is very much a team effort. Your friend should take notes, provide advice and constructive criticism. Encourage your friend and compare impressions thereby providing further enlightenment and making ideas clearer. Team work helps more than it hurts.

3. CONCENTRATION

When you are learning don't think about Bar-B-Q chips. You must channel your attention into the new world, be it outer-space under the sea or wherever. Once you are comfortable with the controls, you can attain the major attribute of an expert — "confidence." Confidence allows you not only to operate the controls automatically but to make strategic decisions automatically.

4. TEMPO

Once you understand "rhythms," synchronization and syncopation can become quite simple and will produce fantastic results. Upon getting a handle on the "heart beat", the inevitable timing and patterns will all fall into place.

5. OBSERVATION

Be alert to watch for activities or responses. These details may help you in the future. Try to understand these activities if you truly wish to master the "game."

6. EXPERIMENTATION

When you feel that some sequence of events is not altogether random, experimentation will pay off. Developing the proper technique will place impact on all strategy and attack sequences.

7. MEMORIZATION

You can accomplish much by familiarization with the mechanics and controls of the game. There are definite patterns that you should remember for optimum performance. You need a complete understanding of its inner workings, so you must memorize. Whether you have a photographic memory or one like a sieve, your training partner can jot down notes and positions while you play. Once you have used the foregoing seven steps on the game of your choice, you will find that accomplishment has placed mastery within your grasp without lessening the excitement or the challenge for an instant. So whether it's to the Arcade Game or the Game of Love let's go play!!!

*Note: The seven steps to mastery are derived from "How To Master The Video Games" by Tom Hirschfeld, a Bantam Book.

PEEKS & POKES

To Whom...

My husband becomes sexually excited by fantasies of watching another man making passionate love to me, although so far this has not happened.

It all started after we had watched a blue movie at the house of some friends. The main actor was a man of huge proportions which I found very exciting. That night my husband and I made frenzied love with all abandonment.

Because he is what they call a Computer Freak he busies himself at the monitor long into the hours of our personal time. But he makes up for it by talking out loud about the blue movies "idol of the swinging sword" as my husband exclaims, further saying he would like to stick it in me.

In reading through your Dirty Book, it seems that there are some programs that might satisfy both my husband's fantasy whims and my desire to get him from pod to pad. Will you please send me more explicite information on ENCOUNTER so that I can determine if such a fantasy satisfying program does work?

Gentlemen

I wish to thank you for your courtesy issue of the DIRTY BOOK. Resultant from the July PLAYBOY I purchased the package of four Animated Sex Cartoons. In wanting to poke a little fun at the girls in the office, I chided them into viewing my Applevision theatre. Like spontaneous combustion the word got around to the girls in some of the other offices in the building. In particular there was one absolutely heavenly girl that I have been trying to take out. Upon her laughter in the Computer Room, I had to intrude. She was overcome by delirious laughter and came to lean on my chest for support.

Needless to say, we had supper that evening and experienced our own Bed Time Stories.

Thanks Loads,
F.Z., Austin

Hi Lovers:

I recently purchased Strip Dice for my TRS 80 II, and was delighted to find that it is the most exciting adult game that I have ever played.

The game came with a continuous loop advertisment that I let run during a party I had. It created a lot of curiosity, but I didn't let anyone see the game until the party had dwindled down to 3 couples. When I suggested we give the game a try everybody, including my wife, wanted to see what Strip Dice was all about.

Just after entering the player data the computer announced that Judy had on 2 items more then everyone else, and Paul had on 1 less. As instructed, Judy, reluctantly, gave her shoes to Paul, then removed her jacket.

The first round started as we watched the dice roll. My wife was the first loser. At first she didn't seem too excited about taking anything off, but when the computer picked our neighbor Dan to assist her, she laughed the whole time he tried to figure out how to get her laced shoes off. She certainly didn't mind her penalty, giving all the guys a big kiss.

Several rounds later found Sue, bare breasted, with only her pink panties left on. Everyone else, except Dan, had 2 or 3 items left on. Dan had yet to have anything removed.

Again the dice were unkind to Sue, as her roll was again the lowest. She decided to chance the dice. This time it paid off. Everyone else had to have one item removed and Sue got to do the honors, for all the men. She loved it! The next round Dan lost double and suddenly the game had evened up. But I still had not been picked to assist in stripping anyone. I lost the next round, chanced the dice and the computer instructed me to pick someone to strip in my place. Poor Sue. It was worth the wait as I slowly slid her panties off. I saw more of Sue that night then I ever imagined I would. At that point my printer went to town producing Sue's certificate of nudity. Of course we continued until everyone had their certificate and had collected their reward.

I sure saw a lot more of my friends that night and to think, my computer would be responsible for such a feat. We all had a great time and are already planning our next computer party.

A.S.S. (AUDIO SUBLIMINAL SUGGESTION?)

Ever been turned down cold by a girl? How would you like to be absolutely irresistible to women? Some guys have a natural gift for turning on women, by making them DESIRE SEXUAL CONTACT.

If you are not one of these lucky guys then you can try the next best thing - THE BEST THAT MODERN SCIENCE HAS TO OFFER...Modern technology has provided the means using computer-age electronics to invade the secret motives, personal varieties, self image and emotions of the unsuspecting target.

Below threshold stimulation is the key, according to promotors of subliminal suggestive audio tapes, evidence that sub-threshold stimuli registers an impression which provokes desired manipulative responses by the listener, thereby acting out consciously what was not on the persons mind.

Subliminal suggestion has been tested successfully in many areas of human behavior, such as: dreams, conscious perception, memory, emotions, drives, verbal behavior, and perceptual defenses.

Below the level of consciousness or awareness, subtle commands are implanted invisibly to the targeted mind promoting the desired result.

In the seclusion of home or office one can insert a cartridge of sound track that audibly emits sounds of beautiful music but has provoking messages orchestrated in its pleasant strains. Messages to the mind which cause a desired reaction of sexual stimulation or whatever desired response is solicited.

As promotion goes, "she could change her mind about staying over night without even knowing why."

TDB is offering a free annual subscription to anyone submitting subliminal suggestive computer programs for review.

SURVEY'S

According to "The Making of the American Mistress", 98 percent of women having affairs with married men receive no financial support. About 40 percent of mistresses are single and 33 percent are divorced. Nearly 16 percent are under 21 and approximately 38 percent are 21 to 29.

PROGRAM SUGGESTION

At the last West Coast Computer Faire in San Francisco we tried to promote a new version of Pacman. It was to no avail . . . everybody thought the idea was great, but that porno-soft is for a select audience and with limited financial return. So here it is for the TDB readers to comment on and maybe get a program going. We selected the name "BEAVER HUNT". The same maze razzle dazzle with the hero, sorry, heroine being a "vagina" which rushes forth looking for fingers, vibrators and gentlemen's jewels. However, our little miss cannot just have happy hunting without some perils. As she is vigorously mounting such objects of amor, seeking to culminate in orgasmic union. She must be ever cautious not to get caught by her hubbie who is very jealous, but like a fool, will let her have three chances before counting her out. She must also be on the look-out against Sir Herpes, whom if he invades her, will cause a reduced male population. Our heroine must copulate frequently in order to survive. It's a real no-no if she contacts Sir H. and has a temporary reprieve with her hubbie.

T.V. BLUES

The continuum effect of TV productions on the general public has been kicked around quite a bit. For the most part, wholesome family life is not portrayed on the tube anymore; with accusals against the major networks for not rendering responsible social, moral and community uplifting. An example in particular would be the soap operas. Unmarried couples are much more likely to have sex than married couples. Children can of course be born to married or unmarrieds however the influence perpetrated on the fans is the point of concern.

The U.S. Census Bureau 1970's report shows a dramatic increase in the number of single people. Thirteen million more singles are reported than what normal population growth could account for. The preponderence of evidence suggests that the large number of singles results from divorces.

With "soaps" on each network penetrating the minds of a vast audience day-in and day-out the influence and impact on young minds is creating a trend which should be reversed

The Dirty Book welcomes the introduction of the various CABLES and quantitative video channels which more and more are being made available. Where the populace has had no selectability in the past, we now have opportunity due to electronics to let us dip into the video troph in order to delight our minds with our own separate tastes.

Just as one can go to a newstand and browse through the selections of books and material compartmentalized by Girlie Mags, Gay Mags, Current News, Puzzles, Sports, Guns, etc., etc., etc....

Now the Religious can have their own channel, the Sports minded theirs, the Blue viewers theirs, the youngsters theirs, and so on.

Ample selections will be made available and individual family rights can manifest a monitoring of the young, protecting them from adult oriented programs which are deemed improper.

At least this Dirty Old Man prefers that their exist a wide selection of TV programming and channels to choose from, rather than be forced to follow the regimented programming of the super three networks. Why must the only choice be to turn off the television when their are so many different slices of cake to eat. As the French do nicely say it, "Vive les differance!!"

SEX-QUIPS

He pulled out his PET, flipped on the power switch, inserted a FLOPPY. Then while loading, he extolled the joy of two bodies co mingling to his new programmeress. She developed the idea and started disrobing.

He exclaimed, "Young lady, Am I the first to ask you make love?"

"Yeah," she perked, "Nobody ever bothered to ask before."

"That Bastard!" lamented the well-stacked woman programmer.
"The Boss asked me if I wanted to work on his Terminal!"
"So?" stated her colleague.
"It was attached to him!"

A blind man strolling with his dog stopped in front of a Computer Store, picked up his dog by the tail and started twirling it around and around above his head.

A computer programmer came running out and exclaimed, "Is anything wrong? Can I help you?"

"No," replied the blind man, "I'm just looking around!"

Males can now give birth to children according to Australian medical researchers. An embryo fertilzed in a lab then implanted in a man's abdomen for maturation and delivery by caesarean section nine months later.

This should add a new kink to Baby Showers . . .

Fertility periods can now be detected with the aid of computerization. A tiny microchip worn as an adornment such as a necklace, receives intelligent signals from a special thermometer that transmits daily temperature readings to be recorded and stored in the microchip. Body heat signals ovulation or fertility. When "safe" the go-ahead is indicated by a green light.

The lady wearing this device in a singles bar can get a lot of attention when her neon sign switches to green.

SEX a la- TARI

Cowboys and Injuns used to be great for us Kids — Now A.M. I. has developed "CUSTER'S REVENGE" to accommodate the Atari video games. The results of their New York showing of Custer brought Women and American Indians against them.

To counter the women's cry of RAPE, they brought in their programmer to state that the Indian squaw is really smiling with pleasure rather than screaming with rapacious fright.

The Indian protest was the historical review of the White pioneer movement westward against the Indians.

A.M.I. could possibly have eliminated the ATARI suit and the protests by both Women and Indians, simply by changing the Program name to "CUSTER'S LAST STAND" and having him fall down after copulation by the fair Pocahontas.

We understand that the company has released three porno games for the Atari Video Game. One of them is supposed to be called "BEAT EM AND EAT EM."

ABUSE turns your home computer into an infinitely creative, smart-mouthed, insult-exchange machine. It showers you and your friends with curses, jibes, and rude suggestions — new ones all the time. Insult ABUSE and watch its unpredictable, obnoxious reaction. Vent your frustrations on it and see it turn your nasty remarks against you. It's great to discover its many surprise features.

It efuses witicism and is as downright dirty mouthed as you want to get. ABUSE can shovel it back to you. It can "rank" you with how abusive you can be. It never gets tired and when you falter in response it berates you with an intoletable vocabulary.

You must attempt to discover as many of ABUSE's hidden words in as few tries as possible. Can you get to the rank of MASTER of ABUSE? Guess the secret word and have scores of curses rained down upon your screen. Inflict ABUSE on your boss, your kid brother, your mother-in-law, that noisy neighbor who keeps you up at night — anyone who's got it coming. ABUSE can be weird, funny, shocking, or vicious. It stimulates your creativity and satisfies your repressed urges to be really mean. And it's guaranteed to call you something you've never been called before!

The more abusive and foul-mouthed you become, ABUSE will retort with all the obscenities you can stand, and more . . .

ABUSE, featured recently in the May issue of PLAYBOY magazine, is an unpredictable piece of software which concocks its own insults and is capable of literally millions of different responses.

Now your home or business computer can be everything you've always wanted:

Obnoxious, Revolting, Insulting, Irritating, Obstinate, Outrageous, Smart-Alecky, Silly...

CONQUEST is a game to satisfy one of your innermost fantacies. Through the use of your "Joystick" you move your sexual self around the screen chasing members of the opposite, or even the same sex. When you are "on top of" the object of your pursuit push the game button and ZAP, you will increase your virility. Of course, if you fail to score, your potency goes down. The object of this "game of life" is to get as high a virility score as you can. The highest previous score is remembered so you have a score to "shoot for".

Of course, it is not quite that simple. There is some good news and some bad news. The good news is that if you successfully conquer a virgin, you get extra virility points and added potency. The bad news is that there are some randomly placed "chastity belts" which, if you try to go through to make a conquest, may cause you to lose potency.

GOOD LUCK YOU VIRIL DEVIL!

GRAFFITI is a program designed to entertain any adult who has ever read the messages inscribed on restroom walls. Your excitement will come, no pun intended, as you break the code to determine the message or saying. To figure out the code you need to take calculated guesses in substituting one letter for another. If you have trouble, we won't leave you "with your pants down," so to speak. We'll help you out by giving you clues, or even the entire message — if you want it! The program gives exact directions for its use. We're sure this challenging game will bring back memories — and give you a few new "words of wisdom" you can use yourself.

FULLER BRUSH MAN — An adventure series depicting the door-to-door saleman of the mid-30's. Our saga begins with the lusty salesman entering upon a housewife at her vanity in a devastating state of nudeness. Following some conversation, the Blonde states that her resistance is low to his sales persuasion.

He immediately set aside his brushes to explore the charms that were open to him. She is subdued by his animation and sounds. Variety of positions are performed, but finally interrupted by her husband who is immensely displeased.

OPHELIA SPLITZ — working her way thru college and failing her quota to sell magazine subscriptions, comes across a chump who will buy magazines providing she allows him a view of her physical charms. He is quick to press his advantage by suggesting greater magazine purchases. He states, "Let's get to it." Active and noisy pursuits are interchanged before she has much pleasure and he has more books than he cares to count.

X-NIM knocks your eyes out. It comes for two computers so far. The orginal, written for the Exidy Sorcerer, features five rows of up to 15 dancing girls in each row. The object of the game is to compete with the computer to see who can undress the last girl according to the rules of the ancient Chinese game NIM. The girls wave to be selected for undressing. After they are undressed, they bounce their boobs and wiggle their hips. The most amazing sight is when all girls on the screen bounce and gyrate together.

The latest program is in color for the Texas Instruments computer. The girls first strip to the bottom of a bikini, give a boob bounce, then strip off the bikini bottom. They even kick in this version.

DO YOU DARE?
DRINK AND GO BARE?
by S.O.G. Software

Apple II
48K Disk
$29.95

DO YOU DARE is an adult party game that can be played by 2 to 8 players. The object of the game is to be the first player to reach a predetermined number of points.

The first level involves various "Dares" and "Surprises" that deal mostly with drinking, smoking, and other "Fun Things". Each player's consequence is determined by a random roll of the dice.

The second level is specifically designed for those players who "Dare". It is identical to the first level of play except that as the game progresses the computer knows that inhibitions are being broken down due to the consumption of beverage. The "Dares" and "Surprises" will indicate the removal of items of clothing and also ask at times for some sort of physical contact between players.

The score of the game can be seen at any time during play by pressing the (S) KEY. A display showing the number of points, the number of drinks, and articles of clothing removed for each player will be shown on the screen.

Due to the consumption of beverage we realize the necessity of a bathroom break. When a player reaches his/her turn and feels the necessity for a "B" BREAK, one must ask the computer's permission by pressing the (B) KEY. The computer will then decide.

An article of clothing is considered to be anything worn except eyeglasses, jewelry, or belts. Equalizing the number of articles of clothing among the players is to be worked out before the start of the game.

STRIP DICE is an original computer game that will provide endless hours of adult entertainment, whether you are having a romantic game for two, a social event for six, or a wild party for 30.

To play STRIP DICE you first gather around the computer, decide on a rating for the game that best fits the mood of your guests. Now tell your computer what it wants to know about the players, and just sit back and follow your computers instructions as it leads you through the game of STRIP DICE.

You'll find that your computer will always refer to your guests by name. Just to be fair, if you roll the lowest number, you will be given an opportunity to chance the dice. If you're lucky, the other players will strip for you. But you may loose double, and might even have a penalty to perform. When that important time comes when someone is to become more exposed, your computer will pick a player of the opposite sex to assist in the removal of the item. When a player is left with nothing but their birthday suit, your computer will reward them with a certificate, suitable for framing.

To ensure that you never tire of the game, a seperate program is included that will allow you to change the items in the data files. This will let you change the mood of the game to suit your needs. Why, there is even an "advertisment" you can run during the party to stir up interest in the game.

A word of caution though, once your friends find out about STRIP DICE, they'll be pestering you until they too can be certified.

LOVERS OR STRANGERS is a computer game with a serious side. It was written by three psychologists to evaluate how compatible two people are and how likely they are to have a successful relationship. But LOVERS OR STRANGERS is also funny and entertaining. It will generate laughter, conversation, and hopefully . . . romance.

LOVERS OR STRANGERS covers seven basic areas of lifestyles and philosophies. The test consists of 30 questions, randomly selected from a 60-question data bank, so a different set of questions appears each time. Besides telling how compatible you are, LOVERS OR STRANGERS also shows how well you know each other, by letting you guess your partner's answer on each question.

Were you made for each other? Are the two of you destined for romance? Spend an evening with LOVERS OR STRANGERS and find out.

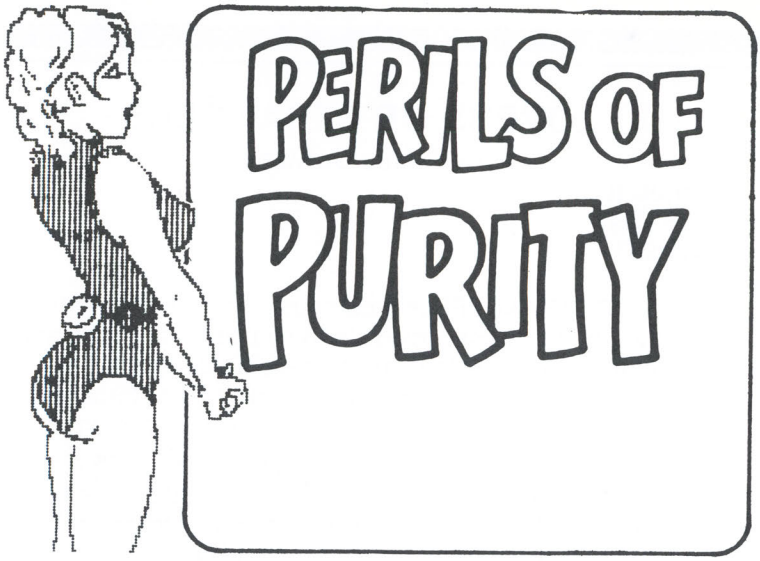
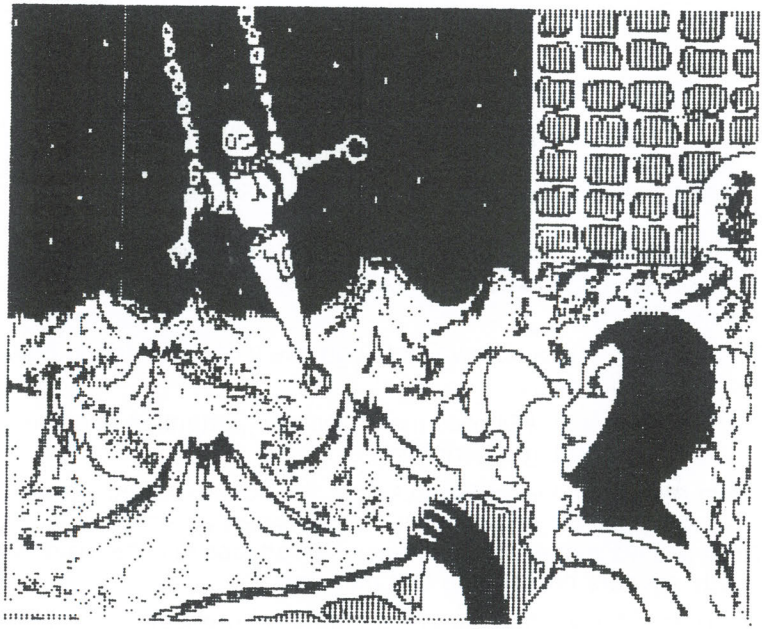
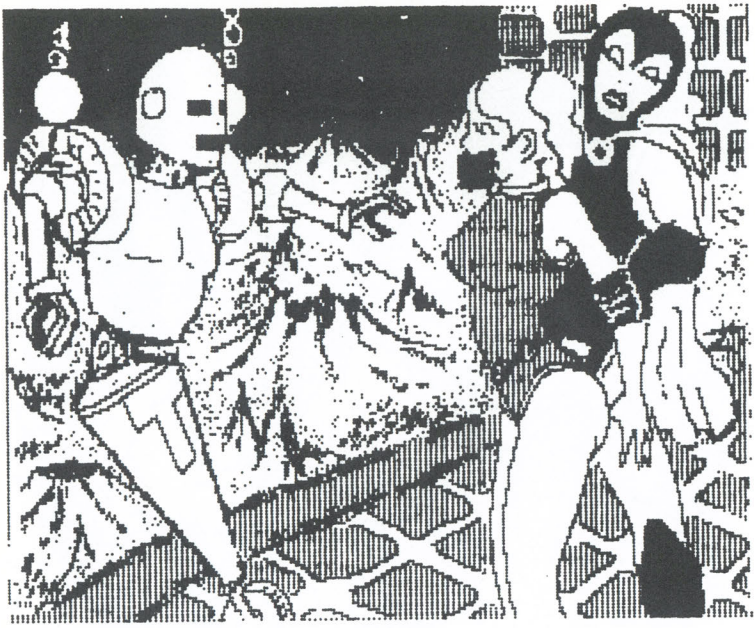
PLAYBAUD



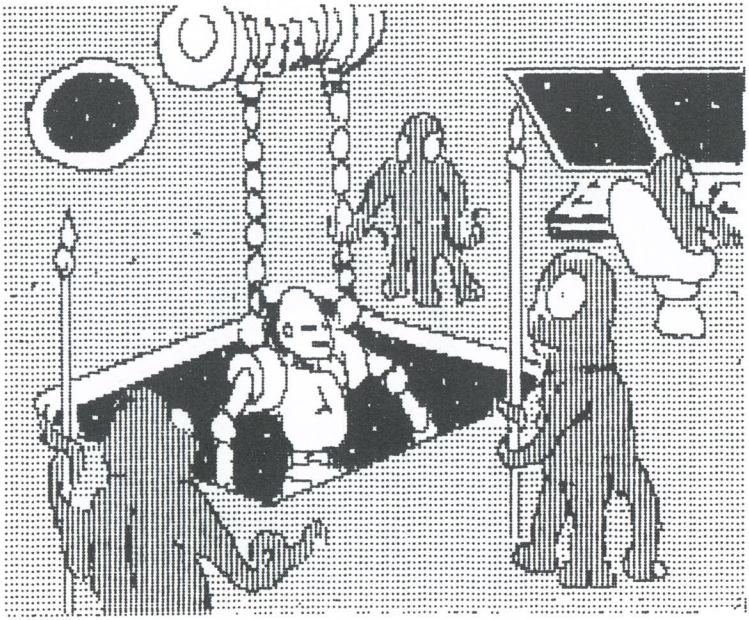
In the Land of Soredom lives the salacious Princess PURITY her virginity protected from all by her majestic guardian Sir RO-BEAU.



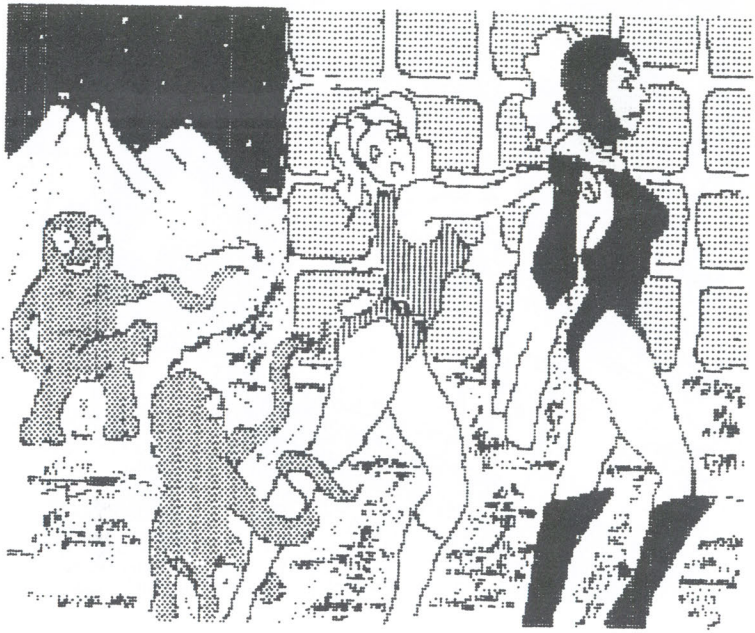
With a small army of followers she launches a surprise attack and RO-BEAU is ensnared, leaving Purity at her mercy.



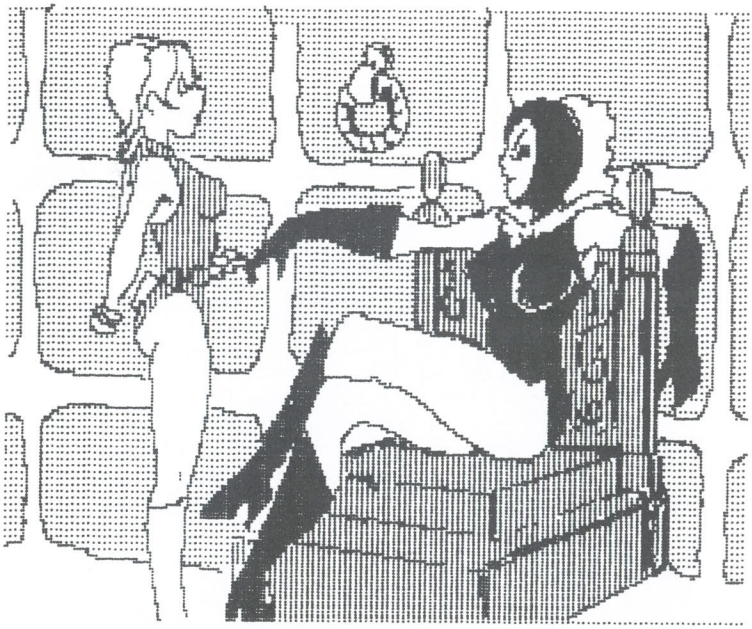
Our story begins as the jealous, Lady Lesbiana, from the neighboring country of Gomore hatches an evil plot.



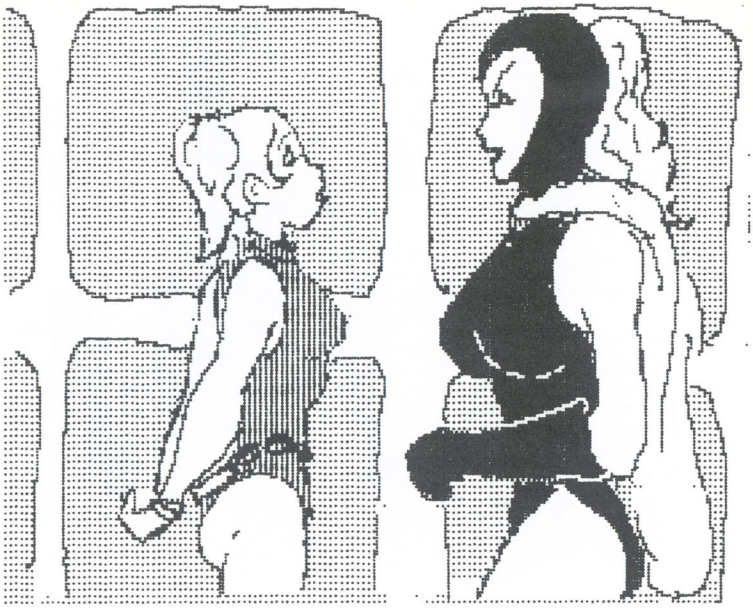
Lesbiana's followers, the 3 legged trojans, have immobilized RO-BEAU in magnetic chains.



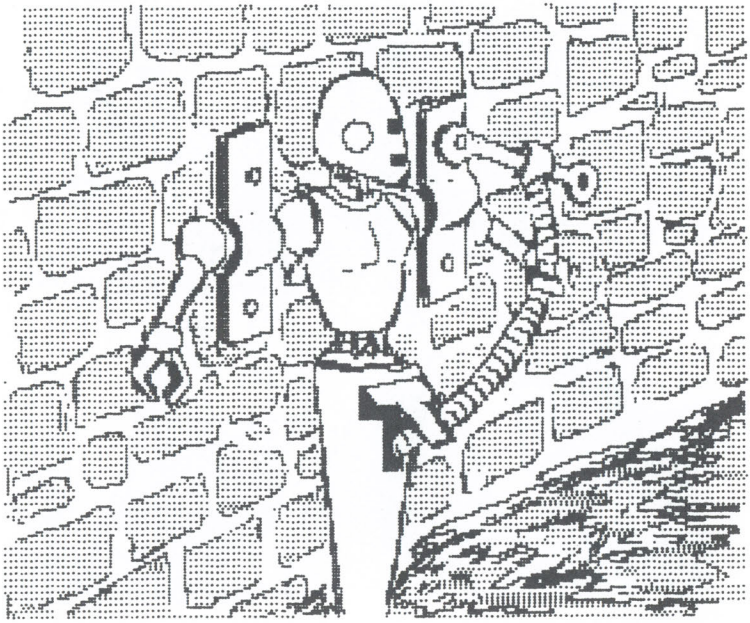
"A-HA! Princess PURITY, my little cherry, I will have you at last. Now for your first lesson . . . "



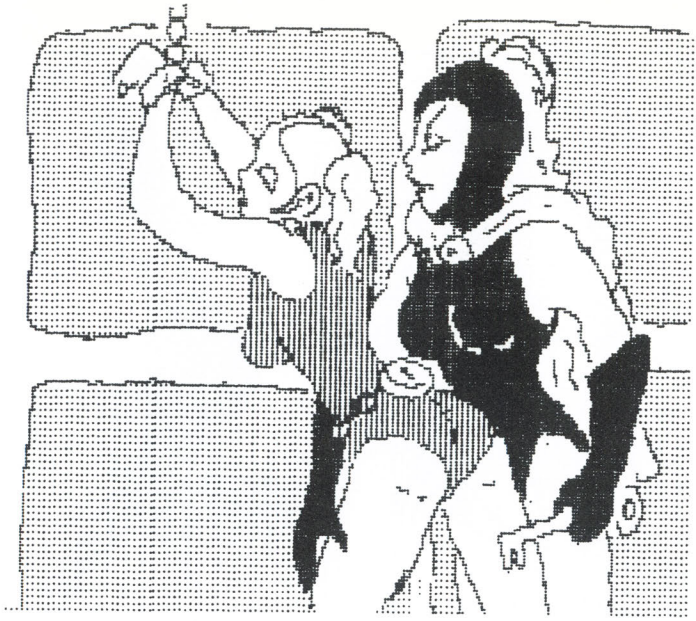
You'll be chaste and pure no more, I'll have your body ravished and your budding breasts tossed to the Trojans.



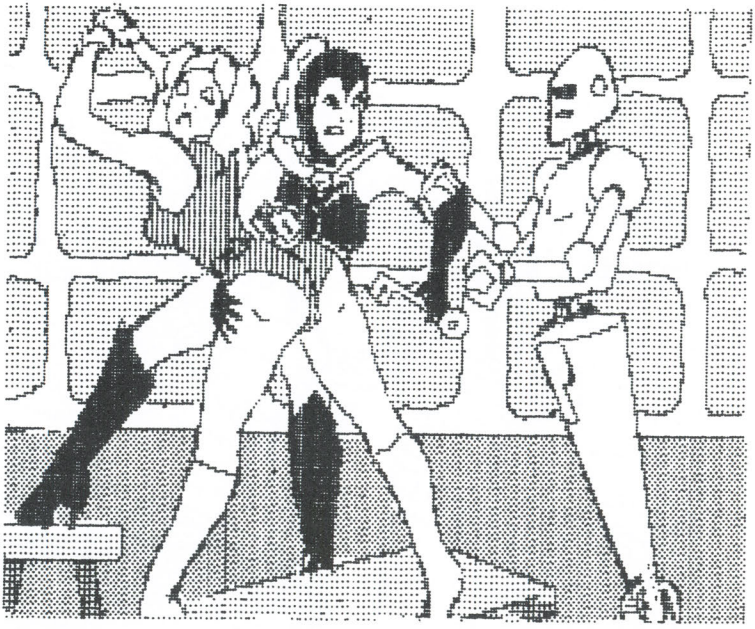
"Spread those legs, my cheeky little lass, I'll soon make you wimper with joy"
"Never! As long as I retain my chastity belt I'll remain pure of heart and chaste in mind"



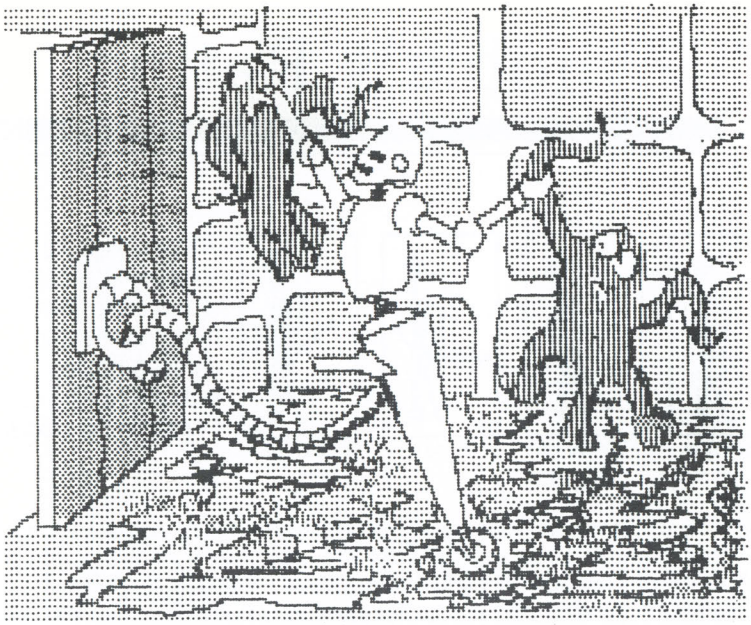
"Purity's in danger. Viola Crotch! Open and do your thing. I cannot tarry"



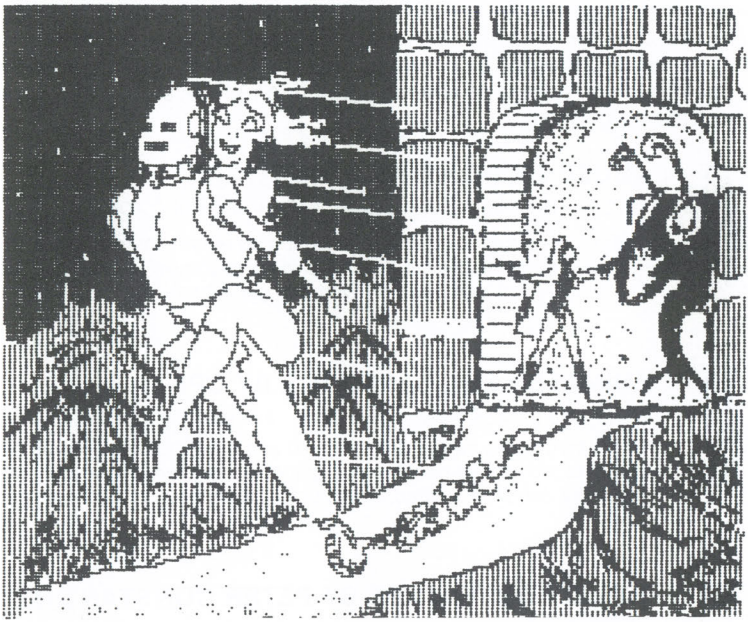
Help! Oh Please, do not break my golden lock . . . unchain me! Help me BO!''



''Unhand her, you sagging sensual slut, you'll never pervert Princess Purity as long as I live''



"Out of my way you horny 3 legged peckers".



Thanks to you Sir RO-BEAU, I still have that warm and wonderful feeling of chastity.

But Lady Lesbiana isn't finished. See the next episode when she summons the Horrible Horny Beetle to bring her Purity's maidenhead on a platter.

Zynobia's Ratings

X-RATED

X-CITING

X-TATIC

X-CELLENT

These ratings are compiled after careful review and screening by our editors who always seem to have a hard time when evaluating the programs.

As we brought to your attention in our PREMIERE ISSUE, our lady from Bourbon Street is known by us as ZYNOBIA. She is our lovely local lady who is the essence of sensuality distilled into a silhouette of existence. Superbly delicious, she enjoys the good life, delights in the generosity of the Dirty Ole Man, easily entranced by beautiful music, ponders the delicasies of fine gourment, is thrilled by the romance of touching and teasing and, furthermore, is tittilated by the Computer Adultware she has come upon. We salute ZYNOBIA, and you may agree or disagree with her ratings. There of course are some programs which are somewhat "straight", but can be easily modified into more interesting forms. The higher ZYNOBIA kicks, the more sexually explicit the program. These are, again, general ratings of naughty content and NOT an evaluation of the merit of the programs.
